

I listen to KLOV in Merced on 91.1 and 88.3 FM. There are four in my family and we all listen to KLOV at home and when in our cars. This is the only radio station I listen to. I enjoy listening to the music because it keeps me focused on my faith in God. It speaks to me in the problems I may be facing that particular day and gives me endurance in difficult times. The personal stories of the songwriters are inspirational and listening to their music lets me know I am not the only one who has troubles. I also know that I will never have to be concerned that my children may be exposed to offensive language or immoral programs while listening to KLOV.

I cannot imagine not being able to listen to KLOV. Many of my friends and acquaintances would not have a decent radio station to listen to and we would listen to CDs instead of another station.

I believe KLOV serves the public because it teaches people about how to live a faithful Christian life. It especially speaks to young people who may not hear this message in another way. KLOV serves shut-in, ill and others in the community who are home and cannot easily access the Christian community in their locale.

I also want to say how much we appreciated KLOV when we had to travel to Florida in 2002 for medical care for my daughter. Even though we were completely across the country from our home, we could listen to KLOV and feel at home in another state and in a difficult situation.

Please leave KLOV on the air! Thank you.
